Below is our Mail order list for 2026. This is what we will be offering to ship bareroot by mailorder this year. We will also ship most native plants from our native list if they are from 2", 4", 4"deep or 1gal pots. Larger pots are not available for shipping. All plants are shipped bareroot without pots and perennials are sheered back to the ground for shipping if they are not already dormant. Foliage is trimmed from deciduous shrubs. We have limited capacity to ship this year. We will take orders until October 10th or such time as our order book is full. We are open at the nursery so if you are close by come and shop, there is so much more available on site. We are also offering express shipping with Canada post. It is impossible to estimate how much this will cost until the box is measured and weighed so the order will be charged at cost if you choose this option. No, we cannot estimate it before as each and every neighborhood is different and we don't know until your order is boxed, packed, measured and weighed.

Mail order list

Aconitum carmichaelii fischeri $19.95ea
Ht.70cm. Z2. This species has dark royal blue flowers and glossy leaves. Prefers a peaty soil in sun to part-shade. All parts of this plant are poisonous.

Adiantum aleuticum Western Maidenhair $19.95ea
Native. Ht.40cm. Z3. Recently, this western form of Maidenhair fern has been separated from the eastern form, A. pedatum, as a separate species. This form has slightly more erect fronds and the pinnae overlap a touch, but both plants are very similar. To make matters worse, A.pedatum is still found out west in disjunct populations.

Adiantum aleuticum imbricatum $19.95ea
Ht.15-30cm. Z2. This is a rarely offered and very lovely dwarf form of the typical Maidenhair Fern. It quickly forms a nice, full clump.

Adiantum pedatum Maidenhair Fern $16.95ea
NANative. Ht.40cm. Z3. Deciduous. Delicate fan shaped fronds with green lacy leaves set atop black shiny stems. Plant in moist humus-rich soil in shade to part shade. Most Northwest plants are now considered A.aleuticum but not all. At any rate, both are very similar.

Aceriphyllum rossii (Mukdenia rossii) $19.95ea
Z5. Maple-like leaves emerge a bronze-green then age to a mid-green and are finally splashed with bright red in fall. Numerous white, bell-shaped flowers held in a branched panicle in mid spring. From North China and Korea. Forms a wonderful ground cover.
